Again Prevail in Kentucky Feud District

People Expect a Complete Alibi For Jett And White

Men Who Are Accused of Burning Witness Ewen's Hotel Are Held to Appear Before the Grand Jury at Jackson.

Jackson, Ky., June 15—Curt Jett was placed on the witness stand in his own behalf this morning. He said that he was near the postoffice when Lawyer Marcum was shot and that he simply went into the Court House to investigate the trouble.

The jury, which is trying Jett and White was excused for a time today while Judge Redwine charged the grand jury regarding the burning of Ewen's house. He said:

"Person is almost as dastardly as assassination. Indeed, an incendiary is an assassin, for he cares not who is murdered by his work. It may be women and children. I want you to look into these charges of arson and bring indictments against any persons you believe to be guilty. Property in Breathitt county today is less secure than in any uncivilized town of the world."

Jackson, Ky., June 14—The climax to the series of misfortunes which have befallen Captain B. J. Ewen since he became involved in the feudal warfare in this county occurred Sunday, when his hotel and its contents were destroyed by fire.

Surrounded on all sides by soldiers and under their protection, afraid to venture from the confines of camp, the refugees stood powerless while a mile away the home which sheltered all the world held dear to him was burning.

There is evidence which points to the fact that the fire was of an incendiary origin.

Although the evidence is meager it is generally understood that another black crime has been added to the long list of atrocities which have caused this county and this town to be avoided and shunned.

Ed Tharp and Joe Crawford, suspected of setting fire to the Ewen hotel, were taken before Judge Redwine by the militia this morning and the judge, after hearing the evidence in habeas corpus proceedings held them to the grand jury.

A. H. Short testified to seeing men going across the bridge in the direction of the Ewen hotel about five o'clock Sunday morning and Gray Haddock and Jerry Lunsford say they identified Crawford as one of the men seen coming from the direction of the Ewen hotel just before the flames were discovered. The prisoners on being detained yesterday made contradictory statements.

The provost guard rounded up the witnesses and will attend to bringing the witnesses before the grand jury, instead of sheriff Callahan, who is a warm friend of Judge Hargis.

The trials of Jett and White were delayed this morning for the hearing of the habeas corpus proceedings instituted by the Hargises yesterday for Crawford and Tharp. The trials will proceed as soon as the habeas corpus proceedings are disposed of.

The old conditions which prevailed in Jackson before the troops came again prevail and if the defense fails to prove a complete alibi, for Jett and White, the people here will be astonished.

The town was quiet last night. Joe Crawford and Ed Tharp, suspected of burning Ewen's hotel were kept in the military guard house, without a chance for escape, or communication with the Hargis factionists. The Hargises were willing and anxious to sign bail bonds for the men, but the attorneys representing them in the defense of Jett and White opposed the step, saying it would prejudice the cases on trial. That the grand jury will release the men there is little doubt, because the witnesses in view of the fate of Ewen will not testify against them, and the jurors, as well as everyone else, feel the wonderful power which the lurking assassin wields here.

ABLE LAWYER'S DEATH.

HOTEL

Conditions Improved at Chicago, Many of the Strikers Having Returned to Work Monday.

Chicago, June 15—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor arrived in Chicago this morning and immediately offered his good services to both sides in the cooks' and waiters' strike. Mr. Gompers, while declaring that he would not take sides in the controversy, said that the facts concerning the condition of the cooks and waiters had long been misrepresented by the employers. The waiters, he said, have been for years treated in a contemptible manner by their employers, who have forced them to solicit tips from patrons, thus permitting the employers to evade payment of a just wage at the expense of the public.

The situation at the hotels today shows much improvement, many of the strikers returning to work.

Schindel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Newark, delivered a beautiful and impressive memorial address, and the exercises throughout were very solemn and impressive. ## VOTE OF THANKS

For Murder of King and Queen of Servia

Then Prince Peter Was Unanimously Elected King.

After the Resolutions Were Rushed Through the Members of the Skuptschina Adjourned To the Church for Prayer.

Belgrade, June 15—The Skuptschina opened at noon today. One of the first acts of the body was to pass a vote of thanks to the officers of the army for disposing of the King and Queen.

The city today was packed with soldiers in preparation for the meeting of the Skuptschina and senate at noon today to ratify the military proclamation of Prince Peter Kara-Georgevitch as King of Servia. The day is a miserable one, with a drizzling rain falling and a cold wind blowing.

At the meeting of the principal politicians and party leaders last night, it was decided that no reward would be offered for the regicides and that their names would not be officially published.

When the session convened the election of a king was the business before the body. Prince Peter Kara-Georgevitch who was proclaimed king by the army on Thursday, was unanimously elected.

A perfect index of the feeling of relief with which the passing of King Alexander and Queen Draga was received was obtainable from the action of the joint body when it convened. Hardly had the members taken their seats a resolution was offered and rushed through thanking the officers of the army for their acts during the revolution in the palace on Thursday morning. After the passage of this resolution the members adjourned to the church for prayers.

MINE WORKERS

Are Holding An Important Convention at Scranton— Conciliatory Board Trouble is Up for Con- sideration at the Meeting.

Scranton, Pa., June 15—The most important convention of mine workers since that which tied up the entire anthracite coal regions, assembled here today to discuss a number of grave questions that have arisen to disturb the peace of the industrial world. It had been expected a majority of the delegates would reach the city last night and preparations had been made to hold a number of board meetings. Owing to the failure of the delegates to arrive in time, the set program was declared off, although President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers had a short talk with Dr. Charles P. Neill of Washington, D. C. who has been appointed by Judge Gray, commissioner of statistics under the terms of the strike commission's award.

Dr. Neill is professor of political economy in the Catholic University in Washington. As one of the assistant recorders of the coal commission he compiled all the statistics as to the wages paid miners, etc., for the arbitrators.

The most important matter to be disposed of is to settle the conciliatory board trouble. As a precautionary move, the convention will in all probability authorize these district mine workers boards to order a general strike if the operators persist in refusing to recognize Messrs. Nicholls, Dettry and Fahey, as members of the conciliatory board.

The entire morning session of the convention was devoted to the reception of the report of the committee on credentials. The convention was called to order by President Mitchell at 10 12 and the call under which it was assembled was read. The three district secretaries, Messrs. Gallagher, Hartline and Dempsey, were named as the credential committee and they immediately began their duties as such.

BUILDING STOPPED

Only Method By Which Employers Can Force the Union to Come to a Definite Agreement on Plan of Arbitration.

New York, June 15—Ninety percent of all the building work that has been going on in this city since the building material yards were opened on Wednesday, were shut down again today.

This action is taken by the governing board of the building trades employers' association as the only method by which the employers can force the unions to come to a definite agreement on the new plan of arbitration which the employers have laid before them. The employers are determined to carry the fight to a finish. They have decided to perfect a permanent business agreement with their union employees even at the risk of provoking the public criticism over the delay that may be necessary to accomplish what they are determined to have.

It is also the purpose of the employers' association to bring to terms a few prominent employing concerns in the building industry who have thus far declined to enroll as members of the new association.

Charles Sullitz, president of the employers' association speaking of the shut down today said:

"We have informed our members to do no work for the present. It is not a lockout! It is not an effort to obstruct work or keep men idle, but it is the only way by which we can accomplish what our association was formed to accomplish—permanent industrial peace."

Quite a different view of the situation is taken by members of the union.

The employers' association think that by delaying work they are going to be able to force the unions into accepting their plan of arbitration, but they never will," said a prominent labor unionist.

"The mechanics are waiting to go to work. The unskilled men as a rule have adjusted their grievances, the material is ready and the employers would do well to let the work go on."

BARROOM MURDER

Portuguese Section Hand Shoots Tradesman George Cook In Drunken Rage—Armed Police Guard the Murderer to Bucyrus

Crestline, O., June 15—The excitement over the murder of Geo. Cook by Frank Dilling, a Portuguese, has all died down. There will be no lynching. Dilling is now in the sheriff's hands at Bucyrus.

Bucyrus, O., June 15—Late Sunday afternoon Frank Dilling, a Portuguese, shot and instantly killed George Cook, in the bar room of the Emerson house, at Crestline.

Dilling was intoxicated and had gone to the bar for a drink. A bystander made a remark which he did not like and he at once pulled a gun and began to shoot. Cook ran to escape, and Dilling turned upon him and shot him through the back as he was leaving the place.

The bullet penetrated the heart and the victim fell dead instantly. Dilling ran, but was overtaken by a mob which quickly gathered. He was beaten with sticks and clubs and was trampled under foot before the police could interfere.

So roughly was he used that he was thought to be dead, but after being taken to the jail he recovered.

The news that he was not dead was soon spread and a mob gathered to finish up the job, but before they could secure the man, the police obtained a buggy and started for Bucyrus to put their prisoner in the county jail. The mob was beaten back and kept at bay at the point of revolvers.

The posse of police escaped with their prisoner and arrived here soon after dark. The people of Crestline are aroused and as the two towns are connected by an electric road trouble is feared.

Crestline people are arriving on every car, while others obtained buggies and followed the prisoner over.

The jail is strong, and if necessary, the local military company will be called upon.

The murdered man was only 28, a plasterer by trade and popular. Dilling is 35 and a worker on the Pennsylvania railroad.

Late last night the excitement subsided and there was no apparent danger of trouble.

ANNIVERSARY

OF JOHN WESLEY'S BIRTH WAS OBSERVED

By One of Oldest Churches in County. An Appropriate Program at Utica Sunday Night.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Utica, O., June 15—The 200th anniversary of the birth of John Wesley was appropriately observed Sunday evening by the members of the M. E. church of Utica. The Utica M. E. church is probably the oldest church organization in the county, having been founded in 1816.

The Wesley bi-centennial celebration was a success in every respect and was under the direction of Dr. G. W. Garrison, first vice president of the Epworth League of the church.

An excellent program had been arranged and was executed creditably. The program was as follows:

Organ Voluntary.
Song, from Hymnal, No. 362.
Scripture lesson, Psalm 48, also II. Tim. 4:2.
Prayer.

Solo, Young Mission, Mrs. Chapman.
Address or Paper, Birth and Education of John Wesley, E. M. Bell.

President Roosevelt's address on 200th Anniversary of John Wesley, read by Miss Belle Garrison.

Paper or Address, John Wesley, Founder and Organizer of the Methodist Episcopal church, by F. B. Brown.

Address, The Growth and Influence of the M. E. church or Protestantism during the past 200 years, Rev. W. E. Chapman.

Collection.
Song, Hymnal, No. 603.
Benediction.

Dr. Garrison acted as leader.

"Mrs. Chapman's vocal solo, 'Your Mission,' is worthy of particular mention. Her rendition of this remarkable song which was sung by Philip Phillips before President Lincoln about 40 years ago, was excellent.

E. M. Bell's paper on the birth and education of John Wesley was instructive and was delivered in an entertaining manner.

President Roosevelt's address on the 200th anniversary of John Wesley was read by Miss Belle Garrison. President Roosevelt delivered this address before a gathering of Methodists in Carnegie Hall, New York, in February, and it was a deserved tribute to the pioneer Methodist.

The principal address of the evening was made by Rev. W. E. Chapman pastor of the church. No man has lived since Wesley's time, who has had as great an influence upon the progress of Christianity, the speaker said, and quoted numerous historians in support of his assertion. Wesley's work was among the poor and many of his plans for church work have been adopted by the churches of today.

Dr. Garrison had collected a number of church relics and these were displayed in the church. Pictures of the founders of the Utica church were placed on a ladder in the front part of the church. Among these were likenesses of Joseph Penn and wife, Joseph Conard and wife, John Nash and wife, Isaac Vanansdale and wife, Paul Haines and wife, and others. John Wesley's picture was placed at the top of the ladder.

The Bible used was the first Bible used in the church. The two chairs and the pulpit are the ones used when the church was founded.

A picture of Charles Wesley, the famous writer, was placed above the new pipe organ while another picture of all the living bishops of the Methodist church was displayed in a conspicuous place.

Dr. Garrison gave a brief history of the church. The Utica church was founded in 1816. The first building was of brick and was constructed in the western portion of the town in 1820. In 1835 the building was abandoned and a new structure was erected on the site of the present church building. In 1875 the present building was erected. In the audience were Mrs. Julia Stephens, Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts, Mrs. Elizabeth Thirkield, Mrs. Maggie Shields, and Mrs. Paul, early members of the church.

The church was well filled and the celebration was a decided success. The Esty pipe organ used is a new one, and was purchased the latter part of May.

Dyre, music by quartet, address by Rev. M. Dyre, closing ode.

The deceased members are A. E. Benedict, Geo. Smith, John McCulloch and David Albaugh. The grave of Willie Moore, who was drowned in the mill race about a week ago, was covered with flowers.

ROSES GRAFTED.

Dennison, O., June 15—To lovers of flowers one of the most interesting sights in this portion of Ohio can be witnessed at the home of George Bruschardt, two miles north of Uhrichsville. Three large and beautiful roses apparently grow on trees. The garden has been under culture for eight years and great clusters of the roses bloom on single stocks from 5 to 6 feet from the ground with no branches intervening. The method employed is to graft the bud of the cultivated rose upon the stalk of sweet briar. People journey for miles to see the garden.

MISTAKEN FOR BURGLAR.

Coshocton, O., June 15—Elmer Haver, a farmer, dwelling near Newcomertown, killed his neighbor, Tom Morris mistaking him for a burglar. Morris started home intoxicated and it is presumed mistook Haver's home for his own. To Haver's demand as to what he was doing there Morris mumbled he was after "money." Haver fired his shot gun through the door and in a few moments the marauder tried to open a dining room window and got the second barrel in the abdomen. It was not until this morning when Haver found him dead in the yard, that he realized that he had killed his friend. Morris was about 40 years of age and single.

QUADRUPLE KITTEN.

Dennison, O., June 15—A quadruple kitten was brought into the world recently by a Maltese cat, owned by John B. Birch, nurseryman, of Carrollton. The kitten or kittens, were bound together at the breast by a band of fur. The kittens were seemingly healthy, but two died on account of the difficulty in securing sufficient nourishment. The remaining 18 lives were then snuffed out by the usual method.

JUDGE ROCHE BACK.

SLENDER WAIST SECRET.

Gymnasium Work Improves Figures of Girls at Michigan University.

The makers of stay may as well go out of business, says a special dispatch from Ann Arbor, Mich., to the New York World. The secret of a slender waist is discovered, and the corset has nothing to do with it. The gym's the thing to make willow the feminine form. All you have to do is to train as the girls now do at the University of Michigan and the waist grows smaller without squeezing.

The thing has been proved. Freshmen girls are compelled to do gymnasium work. Their measurements are taken upon entrance, and at this time of the year they are measured, the figures going upon the original chart. Six charts taken at random show a decrease in measurements of waist, hips, biceps, thighs and calves, with a considerable increase in shoulders, reach, chest, lung capacity and strength. One girl's waist has decreased an inch, while her shoulders have broadened half an inch. Dr. Alex. Snyder, director of the gymnasium, explains the matter thus:

"The changes are due to systematic training. We teach the girls the more correct position in standing, and the exercise with the dumb bells and wands broadens the shoulders. The flesh becomes firmer, and in fact there is a loss of superfluous weight in the big majority of cases. The arms become better rounded, and the systematic and thorough exercise makes the more perfect woman."

NEW COLLEGE ORDER.

The "Protectors" Will Organize Throughout the United States.

The first annual banquet of Grill No. 1, the "Fraternity of the American Protectors," was held in Washington the other evening, says the St. Louis Republic. This, the newest of college social orders, was founded in May and includes members from all parts of the United States.

Its main object is general good fellowship among its members. It is the intention to organize branch orders among all college graduates and undergraduates throughout the United States.

The next banquet will be held in September, 1904, at St. Louis.

American China For Our War Ships.

Rear Admiral Bradford, chief of the bureau of equipment, has decided that china of American manufacture shall be used in the United States navy hereafter, to the exclusion of that of English and German manufacture, says a Washington special to the Chicago Record-Herald. American china is just as good and generally cheaper than the imported product. Whether it is any tougher is an important feature, for the item of breakage on war ships, especially small ones, is substantial, and the officers have to pay for all breakage above 15 per cent each year.

Prevention of Corns.

There are suggestions without number for the cure of corns. Any reputable chiropodist and some who are not reputable, can furnish an unfailing remedy. But there is one sure way to prevent them. Don't wear the same pair of shoes two days in succession. Corns are caused by friction on the toes, and the most expert bootmaker cannot make two pairs of shoes which will rub the feet in the same place. The change of shoes gives the feet a chance to rest. It is also good for the shoes, and footwear which is treated in this fashion will last much longer than if put to daily use.

The Crocodile.

Pliny said the crocodile's skin "will abide any injury and not be pierced." That may have been true in his day, but it is not true now. The bullet of a heavy modern rifle will pierce the skin anywhere unless it strikes in a slanting direction. The crocodile is not as a rule hard to kill, provided one can get a good shot at it, but that is just the trouble. It has not the marvelous vitality of the shark, which will sometimes struggle furiously for an hour, although covered with apparently mortal wounds.—Chicago News.

MISSOURI'S NEW CAVE

Abode of Prehistoric Man Found Near Arkansas Line.

VALUABLE RELICS UNEARTHED.

Most Important Discovery is That of Four Human Skeletons—Professor C. N. Gould Pronounces the Cave the Greatest Find of Its Kind on the Continent.

Professor C. N. Gould returned recently from southwestern Missouri, where he has been engaged in an inspection of a cave which promises to be of much archaeological value, says a special dispatch from Norman, Okla., to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Mr. E. H. Jacobs, an archaeologist of Bentonville, Ark., discovered the cave and wrote to Mr. W. J. Moorehead, curator of the archeological department of Phillips academy, Andover, Mass. Professor Moorehead sent for Dr. Charles Peabody of Cambridge, Mass., and Dr. Holmes of the bureau of ethnology at Washington and other specialists in archaeology. He also sent for Professor Gould of the University of Oklahoma to pass on the geological formation of the cave. The cave is four miles north of the Arkansas line and twelve east of the Indian Territory line. The cave is seventy feet long, a hole dug out of solid rock. The bottom is covered with a coat of ashes three feet deep, estimated in all at some 5,000 cubic feet. The only plausible theory in explanation of this peculiar formation is that the cave was formerly inhabited by cave dwellers and the ashes are those left by the fires they built.

Out of the debris of ashes and clay have been dug four immense skeletons, together with bones of animals. The arms are unduly long and the legs unduly short, which argues that the skeletons belong to an ancient people. Flint instruments of all kinds, knives, spearheads, drills, as well as bone and stone instruments, are found in great abundance.

The surface of the cave is of limestone worn perfectly smooth, probably by long generations of use by the cave dwellers. Dr. Peabody tells of a sheepfold at Mycenae of similar limestone worn smooth in a like manner by long use by the sheep.

Along the back wall of the cave the water pouring off the limestone has formed huge stalactites, which Professor Gould says must have been in process of formation for thousands of years. As these stalactites have formed above the coat of ashes in which the human skeletons and other relics of ancient times have been found the cave must be one of extreme age.

The most interesting discovery, of course, is that of the human skeletons. Only four prehistoric skeletons have ever been found up to the present time, three in Europe and one in America. The one found in America was dug out a number of years ago in California. Of those found in Europe one was the Engis skull, near Engis, Belgium, the second the Neanderthal skull in Germany, the third the Manof-Spy skull, near the village of Spy. These skulls were all found along the lower Rhine valley. They are all characterized by the low forehead, thick skull and other marks of a degenerate race. Up to the last year anthropologists have found no positive proof of the existence of a prehistoric race of men on the American continent. Last year, it will be remembered, a skull was reported to have been found near Lansing, Kan., and many theories were put forth as to its probable age and importance in solving the problem of prehistoric man in America. From later evidence it is probable, however, that this skull was not of ancient origin.

As far as known, the discovery of these four skeletons in southwestern Missouri is the first positive discovery of a cave man in America. Their antiquity is yet to be proved. The stalactites, however, the three foot coating of ashes and other evidences of like kind seem to prove that the discovery is indeed an important one. Professor Gould was the only geologist present at the investigation of the cave, and as almost the whole question of antiquity must be settled by a study of the geological formation his opinion in the case is of great value. Professor Gould is of the opinion that the cave is the greatest find of its kind ever made in America. Of course the work of excavation has only begun and the greatest discoveries are yet to be made in all probability. He thinks there is little question as to its antiquity and that the discoveries being made in the cave will be of invaluable aid in solving the problem of the prehistoric race of man which inhabited the American continent at one time.

As far as known, the discovery of these four skeletons in southwestern Missouri is the first positive discovery of a cave man in America. Their antiquity is yet to be proved. The stalactites, however, the three foot coating of ashes and other evidences of like kind seem to prove that the discovery is indeed an important one. Professor Gould was the only geologist present at the investigation of the cave, and as almost the whole question of antiquity must be settled by a study of the geological formation his opinion in the case is of great value. Professor Gould is of the opinion that the cave is the greatest find of its kind ever made in America. Of course the work of excavation has only begun and the greatest discoveries are yet to be made in all probability. He thinks there is little question as to its antiquity and that the discoveries being made in the cave will be of invaluable aid in solving the problem of the prehistoric race of man which inhabited the American continent at one time.

MISSOURI'S NEW CAVE

Abode of Prehistoric Man Found Near Arkansas Line.

VALUABLE RELICS UNEARTHED.

Most Important Discovery is That of Four Human Skeletons—Professor C. N. Gould Pronounces the Cave the Greatest Find of Its Kind on the Continent.

Professor C. N. Gould returned recently from southwestern Missouri, where he has been engaged in an inspection of a cave which promises to be of much archaeological value, says a special dispatch from Norman, Okla., to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Mr. E. H. Jacobs, an archaeologist of Bentonville, Ark., discovered the cave and wrote to Mr. W. J. Moorehead, curator of the archeological department of Phillips academy, Andover, Mass. Professor Moorehead sent for Dr. Charles Peabody of Cambridge, Mass., and Dr. Holmes of the bureau of ethnology at Washington and other specialists in archaeology. He also sent for Professor Gould of the University of Oklahoma to pass on the geological formation of the cave. The cave is four miles north of the Arkansas line and twelve east of the Indian Territory line. The cave is seventy feet long, a hole dug out of solid rock. The bottom is covered with a coat of ashes three feet deep, estimated in all at some 5,000 cubic feet. The only plausible theory in explanation of this peculiar formation is that the cave was formerly inhabited by cave dwellers and the ashes are those left by the fires they built.

Out of the debris of ashes and clay have been dug four immense skeletons, together with bones of animals. The arms are unduly long and the legs unduly short, which argues that the skeletons belong to an ancient people. Flint instruments of all kinds, knives, spearheads, drills, as well as bone and stone instruments, are found in great abundance.

The surface of the cave is of limestone worn perfectly smooth, probably by long generations of use by the cave dwellers. Dr. Peabody tells of a sheepfold at Mycenae of similar limestone worn smooth in a like manner by long use by the sheep.

Along the back wall of the cave the water pouring off the limestone has formed huge stalactites, which Professor Gould says must have been in process of formation for thousands of years. As these stalactites have formed above the coat of ashes in which the human skeletons and other relics of ancient times have been found the cave must be one of extreme age.

The most interesting discovery, of course, is that of the human skeletons. Only four prehistoric skeletons have ever been found up to the present time, three in Europe and one in America. The one found in America was dug out a number of years ago in California. Of those found in Europe one was the Engis skull, near Engis, Belgium, the second the Neanderthal skull in Germany, the third the Manof-Spy skull, near the village of Spy. These skulls were all found along the lower Rhine valley. They are all characterized by the low forehead, thick skull and other marks of a degenerate race. Up to the last year anthropologists have found no positive proof of the existence of a prehistoric race of men on the American continent. Last year, it will be remembered, a skull was reported to have been found near Lansing, Kan., and many theories were put forth as to its probable age and importance in solving the problem of prehistoric man in America. From later evidence it is probable, however, that this skull was not of ancient origin.

As far as known, the discovery of these four skeletons in southwestern Missouri is the first positive discovery of a cave man in America. Their antiquity is yet to be proved. The stalactites, however, the three foot coating of ashes and other evidences of like kind seem to prove that the discovery is indeed an important one. Professor Gould was the only geologist present at the investigation of the cave, and as almost the whole question of antiquity must be settled by a study of the geological formation his opinion in the case is of great value. ### FLAG DAY.

It is eminently proper to observe the anniversary of the adoption of Congress of the resolution fixing the stars and stripes of the Confederation on June 14, 1777. The flag of the Government has been altered often since then. But what should be guarded against is that effusive patriotism which consists in wrapping the flag around one as grandiose oratory is rolled out, forgetting the real sentiment of love of country and devotion to its doctrines which differentiate America from all other lands. Some reflections might be indulged as to the floating of the flag over subject peoples and dependencies where the constitution does not afford the same protection to the "benevolently assimilated," nor insure free trade enjoyed between the several States and Territories. Such brave discussions might lead us to observe flag day every day in the year, instead of on one day with pumped-up enthusiasm.

UNITY ON PRINCIPLES.

Mr. Nathan Straus of New York, is a philanthropist as well as a Democrat and a statesman. He states with a close appreciation of the facts that at no period was it more incumbent on the Democratic party, and upon all who believe in the principles of popular government, to unite in defense of those principles than at present. He points out that a tariff for revenue with incidental protection is a Jeffersonian principle. Reciprocity was first expounded by Jefferson in a report on foreign commerce in 1793. Economy in administration is also common ground on which Democrats can stand. He adds that the annexation of contiguous territory is a Jeffersonian principle. ## FIFTY DAY FAST

Dr. Wilkinson Has Lost Thirty Pounds But He Feels Strong and Walks Three Miles--Tells Why He Is Abstaining From Food.

Augusta, Ga., June 15—Sunday was the fiftieth day which Dr. William Wilkinson has passed without food, and he signaled it by walking three miles, using Indian clubs and talking to newspaper men about his fast. Dr. Wilkinson is 32 years old and a graduate of the University of Georgia and Bellevue Medical college. He weighs 92 pounds now having lost 32 since he began to fast.

"I am not seeking publicity," said he, "but am taking a perfect rational and scientific course of treatment for a disease that could be cured no other way. I suffered from chronic nervous indigestion and was in a very bad fix. I have studied the subject of fasting very exhaustively and mean to make it a feature of my future medical practice."

"How is that I can abstain from food so long and at the same time feel well and strong enough to take long walks? The answer is simple."

"Absolute fast allows nature to work unobstructed. Obstruction in nature causes weakness. By absolute fast the system is never obstructed and the circulation is never clogged. Irritability and depression are necessarily avoided."

"This process goes on from day to day until the entire system is freed from the accumulation of poisonous products."

"This we may call a complete house cleaning, and the result will be normal childhood hunger, a hunger that is constant and unvarying—a call for substantial food not for dainties, for nature will have none of this, although, of course it would be a very rash act to eat solid food at first."

"On first getting up in the morning I at times experience some weakness, but a little exercise dispels this seeming weakness."

"You say you will not eat until you experience normal hunger. Do you think you will be able to recognize normal hunger when it comes?"

"You bet your life I will," said the doctor, with such emphasis that he evidently is not far away from experiencing it. "Since beginning my fast I have taken absolutely no nourishment at all. I drink water whenever I feel like it. In the beginning of my fast for a while I occasionally squeezed a little lemon juice into the glass of water but haven't done this in a long time. Absolute fasting is essential to the cure, and I would be foolish to lose all I had accomplished by taking any food."

PANAMA CANAL

May Be Built Whether Or Not Colombia Ratifies the Treaty--This is Regarded as the Policy of President Roosevelt.

Washington, June 15—Does the Roosevelt Administration intend to build the Panama Canal without a treaty with Colombia?

That is the question being asked everywhere in Washington in Governmental and diplomatic circles especially. The query is the outgrowth of the statement which President Roosevelt is reported to have made to William Nelson Cromwell, American representative of the French Panama Canal company. This was in effect that the United States regards Colombia's obligations more binding than those of an ordinary treaty and cannot admit the right of the Colombian Government to recede from them and that if not carried out by ratification of the canal treaty which comes before the Colombian Congress on June 20 the United States hopes Colombia will find some other means to discharge its obligations to the United States in regard to the Panama Canal.

This is regarded as a practical ultimatum to Colombia for Mr. Cromwell who incidentally would neither confirm nor deny that the President had made this statement to him will at once transmit whatever the President has said to Bogota for its effect upon the members of the Colombian Congress who are opposing the treaty.

The view of the Administration is said to be that the purchase of the French Canal company's franchise to construct a canal by the Panama route carries with it all rights for the United States. To perform this work, and that therefore the United States, by paying the Panama company $40,000,000 will have full right to go ahead with the construction of the canal without drawing any treaty with Colombia.

This declaration of policy on the part of the United States—that Colombia must permit the construction of the canal whether or not the Colombian Congress ratifies the treaty—is regarded as the most far-reaching development of the canal situation in months. It means, if put into effect, that the United States will regard as inviolate its right to construct the Panama canal, and that if Colombia interferes with this right the United States will take the steps usual to protect it.

The report emanating, as declared, from the White House is regarded as not alone surprising, but extraordinary; true, in view of the fact that there is an alternative proposition—that of turning to Nicaragua—imposed by Congress which would have never expressed a preference for Panama without the express understanding that the Colombian Government should ratify the treaty.

Mr. William Nelson Cromwell said, "While there is strong opposition in Colombia to the ratification of the treaty, I believe that it will be successful. I learn that most of the opposition comes from portions of the republic where people are not well acquainted with the details of the treaty or what it involves. There is a general feeling that the United States is given too much for too small a price. When the treaty is ratified I will not predict, but it will probably be after long discussion such as there was here."

Senor Herran, the Colombian Minister here said that the opposition to the treaty was strong, but that he thought it would be successful by a small majority.

A high Government official has received a letter from a stockholder of the French Panama Canal company, who is well in touch with the entire situation. He expresses no doubt that the treaty will be ratified.

able trouble, it was weak and irregular in action. I was recommended to try Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills sold at C. T. ## OLD GLORY

BIRTHDAY OF STARRY BANNER IS OBSERVED.

Short History of America's Flag and a Few Observations by Captain F. G. Steele.

Sunday was Flag Day—the anniversary of the birth of Old Glory. As customary when the anniversary falls on Sunday the following day, June 15, is observed as Flag Day. That accounts for the flags seen floating in Newark today.

The United States Flag, commonly called the Stars and Stripes, the Star Spangled Banner, the Banner of the Free, Old Glory, etc., had its origin in the following resolution adopted by Congress, June 14, 1777:

"Resolved, That the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

A committee of Congress, accompanied by Washington, visited and secured the services of Mrs. Elizabeth Ross, of Philadelphia—better known as Betsy Ross. She was skillful and soon produced the first United States ensign, or flag. There have been two acts of Congress making alterations in the flag. An act approved January 13, 1794, gave the flag fifteen stripes and fifteen stars from and after May 1, 1795.

The second act was approved April 4, 1818, and is as follows:

"Sec. 1.—That from and after the fourth day of July next, the flag of the United States be thirteen horizontal stripes alternate red and white; that the union have twenty stars, white in a blue field."

"Sec. 2.—That on the admission of each new state into the union, one star be added to the union of the flag, and that such addition shall take effect on the fourth of July next succeeding such admission."

From 1494 until 1800 not less than 50 different flags were used in this country, and almost half of these were used during the Revolutionary war period. It will be noted that we did not have a national flag for nearly a year after the declaration of independence. Although our flag is but one hundred and twenty-six years old, it is comparatively an old flag. The following flag dates are of interest:

Great Britain, 1801; Spain, 1785; French tricolor, 1794; Empire of Germany, 1870.

Our starry banner has had a most wonderful history. It has led our armies in every war in which we have engaged since June 14, 1777, and has never gone down in defeat. Under it our armies have twice defeated England; Mexico once, Spain once, the Indians from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the Southern Confederacy, the armies of the Philippine Islands, and it led the American army in the late successful relief expedition in China.

Some three million men have served their country under its folds. About 500,000 men have been killed, wounded or disabled in its service, and not one of these has died in vain. Greater good to humanity has never been accomplished by any other equal number of soldiers that have served under any other flag.

As star by star has been added to our flag, its power and glory has steadily increased and we believe its future will be a greater development of the past progress. Our flag has never achieved glory unless the fire of patriotism was burning in the hearts of people and their armies and it is safe to say it never will. This makes clear the importance of ever keeping alive an earnest spirit of loyalty and patriotism in young and old. Old Glory is an appropriate name for our flag, and let us keep its title clear to the term. Let us consider this remarkable fact that the marvelous civilization of our country has developed under our magnificent flag and behind its "long flung battle line" and not before it.

Our ensign represents nearly ninety millions of people and their institutions. The flag and its people must be inseparable, and they must of necessity stand or fall together.

It is a curious fact that the Americans treat their flag with less respect than do the people of any other great nation. All other nations have laws to protect their flags from abuse. It is expected that the next Congress will correct the omission. New York has just passed a good flag law. The flag should never be used as an advertisement nor for commercial purposes. No pictures nor printed matter should be placed on the flag except such things as regimental names and battles. The flag should never be tramped upon, used as a garment nor as a pattern for furniture, etc. To use the flag as a tablecloth, stool, or chair cover, etc. is highly improper.

It is proper and desirable that flags should be displayed on public buildings, business houses and residences on patriotic days. The birthday of our flag, June 14, should be recognized by a display of our national colors. To properly and respectfully honor the flag is to do a patriotic act.

A GENIUS OF PEACE.

How a Family Squabble Over a Vacation Was Settled.

"Do you see that seedy looking chap sitting on that bench over there?"

"You mean the one with fringe on his trousers, tassels on his elbows and openwork shoes?"

"That's the one. Well, sir, he is the most ingenious man in this big city."

"It doesn't seem to do him much good."

"Don't, eh? Why, sir, it's preserved his happy home to him even if he does owe the butcher and the landlord and the grocer and everybody else. He alone has succeeded in doing what every man in this town, not to speak about the country at large, would give most anything to do. If true merit and ability cut any ice with our beloved government he'd be at the head of affairs this minute. Why, with his marvelous sagacity and miraculous success as a compromiser we'd never hear of any friction between this country and every other. Never, sir, and with no loss of dignity, either. Why, sir, I believe that man could keep peace in an old ladies' home."

"What's he done that's so wonderful?"

"Why, he and his wife had the usual argument this spring that disrupts every family in the land. She was bound and determined to spend his vacation at the seaside, and he gently but firmly insisted upon going to the mountains. You know the rest. They argued the matter, they disputed about it, they squabbled over it, and they quarreled. Neither would give in. The breach between them grew wider and wider. It became a point of honor with each to prevail. They became more and more bitter. Reconciliation seemed out of the question. And then, sir, when that chasm seemed unbridgeable, that man's superhuman ingenuity came to the rescue. Profound peace fell upon the battlefield, ecstatic bliss succeeded strife, and delicious happiness reigned again in that home, and the children could eat their meals without spending half the time dodging dishes."

"Huh! I suppose he gave in to her. That's no trick. Every man does that."

"No, sir. That would have left rankling wounds, festering bitterness and horrid memories to the defeated. But he arranged it all so that neither was defeated, neither was victorious."

"Impossible. But how?"

"He went, sir, deliberately to work and lost his position, so they couldn't afford to go to any place. Now, wasn't he a wizard to think of that?"—Alex. Ricketts in New York Times.

A Tough Proposition.

"I have now come to the parting of the ways," said the legislator thoughtfully.

"How so?"

"I must now decide whether I am here to represent the bosses or the people. If I offend the one I never can be nominated again; if I offend the other I never can be elected. I tell you, the public does not realize the great problems of statesmanship that confront a man in public life."—Brooklyn Eagle.

He Certainly Is.

"Yes," said the party who occasionally thinks out loud, "he is certainly entitled to a seat in the front row of the heavenly orchestra."

"Who is entitled to the aforesaid seat?" asked the human interrogation point.

"The man who can umpire a game of baseball and please both sides," replied the noisy thinker.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

First Aid to Atlas.

Atlas had grown tired of supporting the world when a ray of hope came. "At last, at last!" he exclaimed. "Help has arrived." Hastily dumping the old thing on M. Jierpont Porgau's shoulders, he skipped off to the Olympian council.—Harper's Bazar.

Stuck on It.

"And do you like chewing gum?" asked the fair maiden with the rapid fire jaws.

"Sure," said the swain who had been trying vainly for an hour to get up from the chair. "Sure; I'm stuck on it!"—Baltimore News.

RELIEF

IN FORM OF DEATH COMES TO MRS. BENTLEY.

For Two Years She Had Been Bedfast But Bore Her Sufferings Patiently—Funeral Thursday.

After three years of constant and terrible suffering which was borne with such fortitude as to command the admiration of all who were cognizant of the circumstances, Mrs. Eliza Rebecca Bentley, wife of Dr. S. O. Bentley, died at her home, 133 North Fourth street, at 1 o'clock Monday morning.

Mrs. Bentley's illness dates back three years, and for over two years she has been confined to her bed, the trouble being a fibroid tumor which involved practically the entire abdominal cavity. Before she took her bed an operation was performed which for a time held out some hope of being entirely successful, but this hope was abandoned two years ago, and since that time it has been a struggle between the patient's magnificent vitality and the slow but sure ravages of the dread disease, which was sapping the vital forces.

During the two years and over that Mrs. Bentley has been confined to her bed, she has received the constant, unselfish and loving care and devotion of her husband, who practically during that time, gave up his business, and her only daughter, Mrs. Thomas Conley, of Bowling Green, O.

No more touching case of absolute self-denial and filial love and devotion, can be imagined than that of Mrs. Conley, whose ministrations to her mother, were constant, and at all times bravely and cheerfully given. On the other hand no patient, stricken fatally with a disease which involved continuous and excruciating agony, ever bore her sufferings in a more resigned and uncomplaining spirit than did Mrs. Bentley. Up until two weeks ago, she had been bright and cheerful, with her mind as clear as it had ever been. At that time it was deemed advisable to resort to hypodermic injections of morphine, to in some degree allay the fearful pain, and these in some measure dimmed the mental faculties, causing delirium and finally a semi-conscious condition in which she remained until her death.

Eliza Rebecca Bentley was born in Canton, O., in 1844, and lived there until 1877 when she moved to Newark. Thirty-six years ago, in Canton, she was married to Samuel O. Bentley who since 1877 has been a well known druggist in Newark. One daughter, Mrs. Thomas Conley, survives, beside the grief stricken husband.

Of the collateral family Mrs. Bentley leaves two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Poyser, of Canton, Mrs. Sarah J. Grasser of Newark, and one brother, John A. Little of Canton.

The funeral will take place from the late home, on Thursday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. L. S. Boyce, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of which the deceased was a member, conducting the services. Interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

RED MEN

HAD A BIG TIME HERE ON SATURDAY NIGHT.

Eighty Warriors from Columbus Were Present—Haymakers Degree Conferred on Twelve.

Saturday night was an important occasion in the history of Newark Tribe, No. 52, Improved Order of Red Men of this city. For some time arrangements had been making for the conferring of the Haymakers' degree on a number of candidates and the Columbus Tribes were invited to participate. About 80 warriors of the Columbus tribes, headed by Col. H. M. Innes, Colonel of the Uniform Rank of Ohio, came over on the early evening Buckeye Lake car, about fifty of whom were in full uniform. The Columbus braves were met by a committee from Minneva Tribe and escorted to the Wigwam on the West Side of the Public Square. The celebrated Columbus degree team attempted to give a drill on the North Side of the Square, but the crowd was so large that they were unable to go through all the evolutions of the drill, and it had to be abandoned. They however, gave a fine drill in the hall, which was greatly appreciated by all who witnessed it. The rank of Haymaker was conferred on twelve candidates, a number of whom were from Columbus, and the others from this city. The work was followed by a sumptuous banquet, at which over two hundred persons sat down. The Columbus Indians returned home on the midnight Buckeye car. A number of Zanesville warriors were also in attendance at the meeting.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the large Methodist church was packed by an attentive audience. Prof. Pigman of the public schools, presided over the meeting, and Rev. Mr. Kilpatrick offered prayer. In addition to the address of Judge Brister some choice music was rendered by the choir. The meeting throughout was a very successful one of which the lodge and the committee in charge was entitled to great credit. One week from next Sunday Judge Brister goes to Bladensburg, Knox county, to deliver the Pythian address.

In the late afternoon light refreshments were served under the direction of the hostess, assisted by Misses Lillian Clippinger and Julia Welch.

BLACKMAIL

ALLEGED TO BE WALLACE SUIT AGAINST LADY COOK

Who Years Ago Was Miss Tenny C. Claflin, a Resident of Homer, Licking County.

The following Associated Press dispatch from London published in Sunday's papers will be of special interest to the personal acquaintances of Lady Cook, formerly Tenny Claflin of Homer, this county:

"The appeal court Saturday granted the application of Lady Cook, formerly Miss Tenny C. Claflin of New York, for a retrial of the action brought against her March 3 last by J. H. Wallace, her private secretary, who was granted a verdict of $2,750 on the plea of libel. Lady Cook's counsel declared Wallace had alleged that she extorted a check for $320,000 from her late husband on the threat that she would expose the liaison, and, counsel also said, Wallace also alleged that that Sir Francis Cook's death was due to a blow struck by Lady Cook in their home.

"Counsel asserted that these statements, which were not brought up at the first trial, were made by Wallace solely with a view of terrorizing Lady Cook. The master of the rolls, in giving his judgment, characterized the Wallace suit as a blackmailing action and said the verdict could not be allowed to stand."

ADDRESS

ON HORACE BUSHNELL BY THE
REV. T. L. KIERNAN

Pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church Delivered a Splendid Talk on the Subject.

Horace Bushnell stands out a much more real and vivid character in the minds of those who heard Rev. T. L. Kiernan's able address at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting yesterday afternoon, than he ever did before.

Bushnell was born in Connecticut, the home of theologians and was preeminently a preacher theologian himself.

As a boy he showed no distinctive traits of character except that he was an intense lover of nature and this element asserted itself throughout his entire life even to the moulding of his theological thought.

He first joined church at the age of 19 years.

When 2 years later he entered Yale he found there a receding wave of Atheism and although the worst period of infidelity this country has ever passed through had about passed, yet young Bushnell was drawn into its wake and by the reading of Thos. Paine and Voltaire became skeptical until all was doubt and despair with him. During this period he decided to take up the study of law and enter politics. Fortunately for the church he was recalled to Yale as a tutor and came into contact with the great religious awakening that swept over this country.

His entire life and thought were changed and there began with him a career that has scarcely been equalled by any religious teacher and thinker since. For 26 years he was pastor of the North church in Hartford and afterward for a number of years he devoted himself to writing and lecturing.

His greatest contribution to modern religious thought was his conception of God's attitude to man, and his statement of the atonement.

God is Father more than he is sovereign ruler. He loves man and has always manifested His love. Calvary is but the supreme evidence of that love. God always suffers for man. And then the additional thought which is gaining such prominence in present day theology. That as God saves man by suffering for him no man must save man through suffering and suffering for man. Sociological thought and the many agencies now at work for bettering the condition of society received their first great impetus in Bushnell's preaching and writing.

He was so far in advance of his day and age that on four different occasions attempts were made to bring him to trial for heresy but fortunately they all failed.

Bushnell lived to a ripe old age, and while his early life was full of doubts and turmoil he came in his later years to preach a gospel of certainty and hope—a gospel of love and helpfulness that won many of his earlier critics to him.

Two more addresses yet remain in this popular series. Next Sunday afternoon Rev. H. Newton Miller speaks on Alexander Campbell, the founder of the Church of Christ.

ELOQUENT

Sermon Preached by Rev. Paul Matthews of Cincinnati at Trinity Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Paul Matthews of Cincinnati, preached a most eloquent sermon to a large congregation at Trinity church last night. As the missionary dues of this parish are promptly paid out of the common parish treasury, there was no necessity for begging, and the congregation listened with delight and real spiritual profit to the masterful presentation of facts concerning this, the greatest work of the church. Many were agreeably surprised to find a missionary sermon one of the most interesting and spiritually helpful events they have been privileged to enjoy for many a day. The rector hopes to have the Rev. W. J. W. Bedford-Jones of Columbus, as special preacher next Sunday night at 7 o'clock on a different subject to be announced later.

DEATH

OF MR. I. A. PIERSON WAS DUE TO HEART TROUBLE.

Funeral Took Place Monday Afternoon at Greenville, O., Where He Was Prominent.

(Greenville, O., Tribune.)

No death has so shocked the community as the sudden taking away of Mr. I. A. Pierson, senior member of the Pierson & Reid hardware firm, whose demise occurred at 12:30 Friday night, at his home, 403 Elm street. Death was due to heart disease.

Mr. Pierson was about 73 years old, and came here from Condit, Ohio, about nine years ago and engaged in business and up to within a few moments before death, appeared to be in his usual health. He was around Friday attending to business matters, ate a hearty supper Friday evening, and at 10 o'clock retired, seemingly in the best of health. About 11 o'clock Mrs. Pierson noticed her husband's heavy breathing and failing to arouse him immediately summoned a doctor, but before the latter reached his bedside life was extinct.

Mr. Pierson was a substantial citizen, a good business man and a faithful member of the First Presbyterian church, being one of the elders. His sudden death has cast a gloom over the entire community, and to the grief-stricken widow and children condolence is tendered in their hour of sad bereavement.

Mr. Pierson was born Nov. 12, 1830, in New Jersey, and emigrated to Ohio at the age of 16, and located at Condit, O., where he engaged in business until 1894 when he removed to Greenville where he has since resided. He was twice married, his first wife, Juliet Herron, dying in 1867. About two years later he married Pyrena Ferry, who survives, and also four children by his first wife, Mrs. J. G. Reid and Mr. I. M. Pierson, of this city, Mr. A. H. Pierson of Newark, O., and Mr. James Pierson of Condit.

Funeral services Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church, the pastor Rev. J. Rosser Jones officiating, interment in Greenville cemetery.

Rufus Mason's Death.

Weaver Mason of Lancaster, was in town one day last week. He came from Newark. He stated to the writer that the authorities of Newark suspected foul play in the death of his brother Rufus, whose death was reported in these letters, and that the matter is being investigated. Tragic death is so hard for the living friends to bear, even when it is known to be accidental, and it is always hoped that it was purely an accident—so much worse when brought about by an enemy or other kind of fiendish villain. It is hoped that investigation will prove the suspicion groundless in this case too.—Junction City Cor. of New Lexington Herald.

ORDERS NO. 4512.

"The scouts having developed the weak points of the enemy, the entire force will now attack each form of Dyspepsia separately. Show no quarter and bring all captives of the enemy (Dyspepsia and Indigestion) to our headquarters, Frank D. Hall's drug store.

"You will find Fermentive Dyspepsia lurking where you least expect it—among the rich and the poor alike. The afflicted appear discontented and have but little energy or ambition—there is weakness and loss of flesh and the faces are pale; they are restless, continually gulping and belching, and have a heavy feeling in the stomach most of the time. Rout the enemy at any cost. Draw on the store of Frank D. Hall for supplies.

"The Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are guaranteed to overcome the most obstinate and painful cases of stomach disturbances. The reputation of Frank D. Hall is back of their guarantee." CAPTAIN REXALL, Adjutant.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are Warranted to Cure all forms of Indigestion and Dyspepsia. Money will be refunded, exactly as printed on package, in case of dissatisfaction. Price 25 cents, at my store or by mail.
